

Note: Utah State Law (Section 59-2-103-5) requires a property owner to declare the proper classification of their property whenever a deed records to obtain a primary residential tax exemption. Similar filings are also necessary to maintain or receive greenbelt property tax exemptions. Please consult the applicable County Assessor's Office to determine whether this exemption applies to this transaction.

- ☐ Verify the wiring instructions provided by the title company and confirm them directly with your bank or a trusted contact to prevent wire fraud.
- ☐ If applicable, complete the water right or water share transfer after closing with the state or with the irrigation company and ensuring that all necessary documentation and fees are properly submitted.
- ☐ File for a primary residence exemption with the county assessor to potentially qualify for property tax savings.
- ☐ Sign up for "Property Watch" from your county recorder (if available)
- ☐ Arrange for payment of HOA/Association dues and ensure that you are aware of the payment schedule and any specific requirements.
- ☐ Coordinate with the seller to transfer the utilities into your name and set up any desired automatic payments or billing preferences.
- ☐ Arrange for the changing of locks either through a locksmith or your home warranty company.
- ☐ Identify the garbage and recycling pick-up days in your new neighborhood to properly dispose of waste and recycling materials.
- ☐ Set up or transfer TV/internet services and gym memberships according to your preferences and needs.
- ☐ Familiarize yourself with the location of shut-off valves for water and gas in case of emergency situations.
- ☐ Forward your mail using the United States Postal Service (USPS) online forwarding service.
- ☐ Take pictures of receipts for any deductible expenses related to the purchase of the property or potential reimbursements.
- ☐ Prepare for moving day by fully charging your cell phones, having essentials like paper towels, bathroom tissue, and plastic cups/utensils readily available. Also, keep some cash on hand for unexpected expenses.
- ☐ Inform your insurance agent about your new home and ensure that your homeowner's insurance policy is active and covers the correct property.
- ☐ Consider creating a home maintenance checklist to keep track of regular tasks such as changing air filters, servicing HVAC systems, or scheduling lawn care.
- ☐ Research local service providers, such as plumbers, electricians, and landscapers, and keep their contact information handy for any future needs or emergencies.
- ☐ Familiarize yourself with any homeowner association (HOA) rules, regulations, and restrictions, and ensure compliance with their guidelines.
- ☐ Take the time to explore your new neighborhood and introduce yourself to neighbors, making connections and getting to know the community.

Several companies & service providers may require notice of your new address.

- ☐ Auto, life, & health insurance companies. (Ensure your policies reflect the correct information and coverage).
- ☐ HR department at your workplace for payroll and benefits purposes.
- ☐ Transfer your prescriptions to a new pharmacy and notify your healthcare providers, including doctors, dentists, & other specialists.
- ☐ Banks, credit unions and credit card companies, especially those that mail monthly statements.
- ☐ Subscription services, such as streaming platforms, online shopping accounts, or meal delivery.
- ☐ Any professional associations or fraternal organizations you are a member of.
- ☐ Driver's license & other state/professional licenses and permits. Remember other government agencies, such as the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), Medicare, Medicaid, and the Social Security Administration.
- ☐ Schools, educational institutions, and student financial aid lenders.
- ☐ Magazine & newspaper subscriptions.

Real Property & Tenancy - The Basics

A simple definition of tenancy is how ownership rights in real property are held. In Utah, individuals most commonly hold title as a tenant in common or a joint tenant.

Tenants in Common

A tenant in common owns a fractional interest in the real property. This share of ownership can be specified or is divided equally among the other owners. For example, if title is held by Stanley Smith and John Doe, each owner is assumed to own 50% of the property. If a tenant in common dies, their interest in the property passes to their heirs or devisees, not to the other owners.

Joint Tenants

Joint Tenancy operates differently because a joint tenant's interest is equal and undivided. When title is held in joint tenancy, there are rights of survivorship for the other vested owners. When a joint tenant dies, the other owners need only record an affidavit to terminate the interest of the deceased, and then title will pass automatically to the other owners.

Primary Residential Exemption

During the 2019 General Legislative Session, SB13 was passed into law. The law requires residential property owners to submit a written declaration to the County Assessor stating whether the property is used as a primary or secondary residence. If your mailing address, voter registration or address do not match the physical address of your property, you will receive a letter and form from our office to declare your primary residence.

The primary residential exemption reduces your residential property's taxable value by 45%. Only one exemption may be claimed per household with in the state. This means that if you own multiple residential properties in the state, they must be the primary residence of a tenant to receive the exemption. Note: A "household" includes married couples who are not legally seperated but live in seperate properties. These couples only qualify for the exemption on a one-owner residence.

Please remember that a residential property is a primary residence if it is occupied 183 or more consecutive calendar days in a calendar year. Year-round short term rentals may not qualify.

There is no exemption given for Commercial Properties, Vacant Land, Secondary Homes, Vacation Homes, Cabins, Time-Shares, or other types of transitory housing. These properties are taxed at 100% of the market value.

All property owners must sign the form. That includes both spouses if the property is jointly owned by a married couple. If there are more than two owners, please sign on a blank space or attach an addtiional sheet with those owners names, signatures, and date.

Failure to submit a completed and signed declaration to the County Assessor may result in the withdrawal of the primary residential exemption. This could effectively increase your property taxes substantially.

Certification Questions

- ☐ Yes ☐ No 1. Is this property used as your primary residence, meaning you live there at least 183 consecutive days in the year?
- ☐ Yes ☐ No 2. If no to question 1, does someone else live in this property at least 183 consecutive days each year as their primary residence? (i.e. renter or tenant)
3. What are the dates of occupancy by the owner(s) or a tenant? _____ to _____ mm/dd/yyyy mm/dd/yyyy or present
- ☐ Yes ☐ No 4. Do you own property in another state that you claim as your primary residence?
- ☐ Yes ☐ No 5. Do you own any other property in the state that receives the primary residential exemption? (If you answered yes, please complete page two. Please make as many copies of page two as necessary to submit the required information for your other properties that receive the primary residential exemption.)

If a property owner or a property owner's spouse claims a residential exemption under Utah Code Ann. § 59-2-103 for property in this state that is the primary residence of the property owner or the property owner's spouse, that claim of a residential exemption creates a rebuttable presumption that the property owner and the property owner's spouse have domicile in Utah for income tax purposes. The rebuttable presumption of domicile does not apply if the residential property is the primary residence of a tenant of the property owner or the property owner's spouse.

Are Title Thieves Really Stealing Utah Homes?

QR for KSL-TV Story

If you've come across those infomercials touting services that promise to protect homeowners from fraudulent title theft, you might be wondering about the actual likelihood of such an event occurring. Rest assured, while title fraud is indeed a possibility, it's an exceptionally rare and unlikely occurrence.

In fact, earlier this year, several reputable local media outlets delved into the subject, seeking insights from experts. A notable example is KSL-TV's Matt Gephardt and Sloan Schrage, who explored the truth behind claims of title thieves in this eye-opening piece:

www.ksl.com/article/50334898/ads-claim-title-thieves-can-steal-your-home-but-can-you-really-lose-your-house

Benefits of Title Insurance – Built in coverage for marketable title, fraud & forgery

While the news coverage shed light on this issue, it's worth noting that numerous homeowners are already safeguarded by their title insurance policies, often acquired at the time of property purchase. An Owner's policy encompasses protection against unmarketable titles, and many policies obtained since 2008 have extended coverage that includes safeguarding against post-policy forgery, fraud, and title-related complications. The specifics of coverage can vary, and deductibles might apply depending on the policy type. Remarkably, many policyholders could potentially have coverage that reaches up to 150% of their property's original purchase price.

Property Watch - Free service in some counties

For homeowners seeking a proactive approach to staying informed about their property's status, the Property Watch service is a remarkable resource available in select Utah counties. This service allows residents to stay in the loop about any recorded changes affecting their property. Once you enroll, you'll receive email notifications whenever a document is recorded that impacts your property's status. Currently, this service is available in the following Utah counties:

Washington: <https://www.washco.utah.gov/2021/11/04/sign-up-for-property-watch/>

Salt Lake: <https://slco.org/data-services/PropertyWatch/PropertyWatch.aspx>

Uintah: <https://co.uintah.ut.us:8443/ords/ucdev/r/property-watch-signup/home>

Weber: https://www.webercountyutah.gov/forms/property_watch/

Cache: <https://www.cachecounty.org/recorder/propertywatch/faq.html>

Utah: <https://property-watch.utahcounty.gov/>

Daggett: <https://www.daggettcountry.org/CivicAlerts.aspx?AID=1324>

While the fear of title theft might be a headline-grabbing concern, the reality is that this type of fraud is an anomaly rather than the norm. Existing title insurance policies offer significant protection for homeowners, and the Property Watch service provides a valuable tool for staying informed about changes to your property.

Corporate Fraud Watch

The Utah Division of Corporations and Commercial Code provides a service to assist businesses in monitoring and receiving notifications regarding changes to their corporate information. These changes may be indicative of identity theft or fraudulent activities. The State promptly sends an email within 24 hours of any modification to a Business Address, Registered Agent, or Registered Principal. The cost for this service is $3.00 per year.
